

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for cleaning masks is described. In one embodiment, the invention is a method of cleaning a mask. The method includes placing the mask in a cleaning solution. The method also includes agitating the cleaning solution at a predetermined agitation level for a predetermined period of time.